Adventure cruises by Jean-Louis Étienne

2023 SEASON

A large, sculpted iceberg with a natural archway, set against a clear blue sky and dark water. The ice is a deep, vibrant blue, with intricate textures and shadows that highlight its jagged, crystalline structure. The archway is a natural opening in the ice, leading to a darker, more shadowed interior. The water in the foreground is dark and calm, reflecting the light from the sky. The overall scene is serene and majestic, capturing the raw beauty of a polar environment.

We leave to go on a journey, for a quest, but in the end it is the journey that makes us.

I built the sailing ship Perseverance to assist the Polar POD expedition, she offers you a unic chance to travel enboard a ship built for adventure and science.

Exclusive ecotourism cruises aboard a mythical boat that will be used for the greatest polar expedition of modern times.

With Perseverance, adventure will become real. Whether she's whispering or screaming, her voice will be irresistible !

Jean-Louis Étienne M.D.
Explorer

Eco-designed to reduce the environmental impact, Perseverance offers you ethical journey committed to the preservation of ecosystems.

Day 1

● Mahé

Your Perseverance ship will be waiting for you on the main island, at port of Victoria for boarding from 6 p.m. We will welcome you with a presentation of the crew. Then you could assist at the departure from the outside decks.

Days 2 to 10

● Navigation on the Seychelles archipelago

Located in the equator, the 115 islands of the archipelago are full of tropical and paradisiacal treasures. Sail in the footsteps of ancient explorers for a multi-activity cruise on a transparent blue Indian Ocean where the most beautiful sandy beaches on our planet are found. Of granite or coral origin, the Seychelles is a green and blue paradise where you could discover its exceptional underwater fauna or find your Robinson soul for a stay in harmony in the middle of its luxuriant nature and its majestic forests.

The Seychelles are also charming little Creole towns, lush nature scented with the rarest flowers and spices.

The Inner Islands to Mahé and the Outer Islands are beautiful. Between birds sanctuaries, seabed and coral, you will live an adventure with the sweetness of Creole Life.

Possible stopovers:

Discover the beauty of landscapes and seabed of Praslin, a Unesco World Site, before walking trails of the unmissable « Vallée de Mai » in search of the Seychelles black parrot. Nicknamed the Garden of Eden, the Vallée de Mai will immerse you in the heart of lush vegetation between buttocks coco, soothing waterfalls sounds and birdsongs during a hike. It is one of the rare areas of the globe not altered by man.

The Island of Curieuse which owes its name to the schooner « la Curieuse », sent in 1768 by the French explorer Marc Joseph Marion Dufresne, is a protected site which is mainly used to protect giant tortoises.

Coco island, a small piece of land almost uninhabited and paradisiacal with white sand beaches, adorned with granite and coconut palms. Beneath the surface, the marine national park is home to impressive species such as rays, sharks and countless rainbow-colored fish that swim among the magnificent corals.

Anse source d'Argent, one of the most beautiful sites in the Seychelles. A magical setting of white sand dotted with silvery rocky blocks, sculpted by time and water, has ended up taking often surprising shapes. The beach is, on one side, caressed by crystal water, and on the other, bordered by lush vegetation.

The unmissable Islet St Pierre with its dyke and its Argent cove. Exceptional snorkeling site for a rich underwater fauna.

Arros Island, ideal for diving, snorkeling and even fishing.

The Amirante Island, a chain of coral islands discovered by Vasco da Gama during his second trip to India. You'll see clownfish, lionfish, boxfish, parrotfish and sea anemones and discover incredible natural wonders.

Aldabra the largest atoll in the world and listed as a Unesco World Heritage Site, a coral dust lost in the Indian Ocean. A true invitation to adventure, Aldabra is home to an ecosystem unique in the world, it is a refuge for more than 150,000 giant land tortoises. Consisting of four major islands bordering an almost closed interior lagoon, only scientists have the right to stay there, to study the exceptional richness of the fauna. Its coral reefs abound in fish species while its bottom is home to dolphins, sharks, manta rays and manatees.

A strictly protected gem, approaching Aldabra is a privilege few are lucky enough to be offered.

Days 2 to 20 ● Sailing in the West Scattered Islands

Classified as a « nature reserve » since 1975, these islands are treasures of fauna, flora and exoticism.

Overflowing with protected endemic species, with coral reefs providing protected areas for breeding sea turtles, bordered by transparent waters, you will rediscover what nature means.

Located around Madagascar, the Scattered Islands are a group of five islands and atolls whose waters are under French jurisdiction. Classifieds as a marine natural park, theirs waters are home to more than 2,900 species, including a high proportion listed as critically endangered such as lemon, black, white tip sharks, sea cucumbers. The most emblematic of these species is the green turtle of which 2500 clutches are recorded each year on Grande Glorieuse.

Nature reserve in Mozambique Channel, the Glorious Islands, an inhabited archipelago formed on an atoll composed of two sandy islands enveloped by a coral reef from which several coral reefs emerge, have a remarkable terrestrial biodiversity where one can observe rare endemic mammalian, viviparous and ovarian species such as bulbul birds, various reptiles sharks and sloths.

- Juan de Nova
This anvil-shaped island, located in the Mozambique Channel, is protected by a vast 40 km lagoon, surrounded by a coral reef. Difficult to access, the island was built at the top of an underwater promontory and is made up of rocky hills and sand dunes that can reach 12 meters in height.
- Days 11 and 12 ● Sailing day
- Days 13 and 14 ● West Madagascar
- Tsingy de Bamaraha
Located 300 km from Antananarivo, the Tsingy de Bamaraha nature reserve offers one of the most spectacular landscapes in Madagascar. Millions of years ago, these regions were buried under the sea. Corals and shells piled up and welded together to form a giant plate, reaching 200m in thickness. The water has gradually receded, leaving the limestone in the open air, which forms joints and canyons. Erosion then began its long work to offer you this breathtaking landscape.
- Morondava (meaning in Malagasy language "the long shores")
Located in the region of Menabe (which means very red like the land of the country), on the delta of the Morondava river, you will discover this urban and renowned seaside resort, benefiting from large stretches of white sand beaches. About twenty kilometers away, you will find the spectacular Alley of the Boabas, recognized worldwide and recognized as a Unesco heritage site.

● Navigation and stopovers in Antarctica Peninsula

Explore this frozen, wild and fascinating continent aboard the Perseverance. Terra Incognita where the ice plays with multiple reflections and nature offers you a breathtaking spectacle. A timeless escape into limitless immensity.

Admire the whales from the outside deck, witness the life of penguins and their predators, killer whales, seals, leopards and other marine mammals. Listen to the resounding roar of seracs in emblematic passages, marvel at the majestic icebergs and glaciers that make this navigation a discovery imbued with emotion and nature.

Our guides will accompany you to make you relive the rich history of this white paradise for a long time coveted for its riches. The polar magic will carry you away in this highly emotional contemplation.

To get there, you will have to earn the emblematic passage of the Drake south of Cape Horn. A step shared by explorers throughout history, giving access to the white continent.

Possible stopover points:

Deception Island (South Shetland Islands) with its bay protected from winds and swells and its warm waters due to its still active volcano. A former whaling station, it is accessed by the forges of Neptune. a polar bath will be offered to you.

Half moon Island is home to a colony of gentoo penguins and is a nesting ground for arctic terns and kelp gulls. Whales are often seen here off the shore.

Neko Harbor, graug on Andvord Bay, one of the most beautiful bays on the peninsula, surrounded by glaciers. The fauna is abundant and exceptional.

Port Lockroy (Goudier Island), historic site of a former weather station transformed into a post office. Open to the public and composed of a museum and a souvenir shop, you can observe gentoo penguins there.

Canal Lemaire known for the splendor of its steep cliffs that border the passage filled with icebergs. Picturesque with protected waters as calm as a lake, a rare event in these seas.

Brown Bluff and its singular volcanic geology with its breathtaking volcanic tuff cliff, its penguins and snow petrels.

Trinity Island (Palmer Archipelago) where you will discover many shipwrecks as well as whale bones. A very active colony of gentoos is present, and fur seals like to bask in the sun.

Weddell Sea and its majestic tabular icebergs.

If the weather and the sea allow us, we may have the opportunity to cross the legendary Cape Horn. The southernmost point of the lands attached to North America, at the south end of Tierra del Fuego. A 425 m high cliff, located on an island in Chilean territorial waters, Cape Horn marks the northern limit of the Drake Passage, and the meridian that crosses it defines, from the cape to Antarctica, the border between the Pacific Ocean and the Atlantic Ocean.

Day 21

● Ushuaia

Disembarkation at 10 a.m. after a last breakfast on board.

Transit

Vietnam / Seychelles - South Africa /
Argentina - Argentina / South Georgia /
South Africa

Take part in the daily life on board and become a passenger-crew on a legendary ship. A unique opportunity to live to the rhythm of sailors and soak up the high seas.

An authentic maritime and human adventure.

Live to the rhythm of long-distance sailing and learn about the day-to-day of each function on board. From the bridge to the engine room, you can discover the elements that drive you to make the right nautical decisions and guide the course of the trip.

It is also a journey that invites contemplation and meditation, far from the coast in the immensity of the ocean. A deep personal quest, under a kaleidoscope of varied landscapes, dictated by the climatic conditions.

Mission banquise, 2002

Jean-Louis Étienne

Originally from Tarn, a doctor by training, renowned explorer and determined dreamer, Jean-Louis Etienne has amazed three generations of French people with his journeys on the oceans and in the polar regions. At 75, Jean-Louis Etienne had lost none of his love for nature and great adventures.

This modern-day Jules Verne, who dedicated his life to the cold lands, invites you to join him aboard his sailboat Perseverance to share unique moments of ecotourism. To be on board of this mythical sailboat which will be used for the most daring expedition ever carried out is to be an actor in the Polar POD adventure.
